DIAGNOSTIC INVENTION INTRODUCED

New Lamp Likely to Revolutionize Dentistry

MR. W. J. CAMERON

Famous Expert Gives Demonstration to Dental Undergrads

Demonstration of a new lamp which is likely to revolutionize the phase of dentistry which pertains to diagnosis, was shown by Mr. W. J. Cameron, famous Canadian dental expert, to the Dental Undergraduates yesterday evening. Mr. Cameron, assisted by Harry C. Phibbs, gave a thorough demonstration of his lamp, which is called the Cameron Transillumination lamp, and presented a complete set to the students in order that they might undertake research work of their own.

Mr. Cameron is a Scotch Canadian by birth. He honoured McGill University by giving the first of his lecture courses in this subject at this University. He expressed his wish to give his first lecture in Canada.

Mr. Phibbs introduced the speaker and told some interesting experiences which he and Mr. Cameron had gone through while on their moose hunt which they took around the North of Lake Superior. He told of finding more real grit in Canadian woodmen than anywhere else in his experience. Following this interesting talk, the audience removed themselves to lecture hall A, where the lantern slides were ready.

In beginning his talk, Mr. Cameron said that his text would be the famous Latin phrase "fiet luce", or "Let there be light." He then explained the great importance of the fifth facial nerve, or trifacial, and quoted figures from the Jersey State Insane Asylum to show that many patients had been discharged cured directly due to treatment of the trifacial nerve. He said that the irritation of the fifth nerve in a child often brought about serious illness.

He then went on to state that there were many diseases in the teeth that were unknown to the patient, and also could not be discovered by usual forms of diagnosis. He traced the development of dentistry since the discovery of the famous Roentgen ray in 1895. This developed into the use of lamps as searchlights inside the mouth. But for a very common form of disease—namely the congestion of soft tissue around the tooth, the use of the X-ray was totally inadequate, as many well-known dental authorities stated. But due to the system of transillumination, carried out by means of a thin lamp exuding clear white light, transillumination proof could actually be provided. But in many cases of congestion, X-ray fail to be of value and the presence of danger is not known to the patient. Mr. Cameron then told of extensive research work carried out at the Kansas City Dental Institute, one of the best-fitted in the world. The injection of poison so as to make congested tissue killed rabbits in seven hours, showing the severity of such cases. At this point a series of "movie" pictures were thrown on the screen, showing by degrees the effect on the unfortunate quadruped.

By means of the transillumination lamp, all cases of congestion can be discovered immediately, for there is a dark shadow over the infected area. That this shadow can be produced by no other cause, has been proved, and Mr. Cameron offers a reward of a

CHARITIES DRIVE ALMOST COMPLETE

Over Seven Hundred Dollars Subscribed So Far

The Federated Charities drive which was supposed to finish to-day, is still incomplete since all the returns are not yet in. The sum of $706.89 has been turned in so far, and with the rest of the returns it is expected that a grand total of $800.00 will be reached.

The leading class is Arts '26, which has subscribed $107.00. Science '37 comes next with $82.00. Medicine is a faculty turned in a very poor record. The subscriptions of the three classes which have not yet turned in their results, it is believed that the faculty's average will rise considerably.

Following is the incomplete list of the returns so far:—Arts '25—$18.50

DR. D. L. RITCHIE AT YOUNG MENS' FORUM

Will Speak on "Fundamentalism"

Principal D. L. Ritchie of the Congregational College is the speaker at the Young Men's Forum at Central Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon next, November 9th at 4:15 P. M. His subject is "Fundamentalism."

To anyone who is interested in the trend of religious thought in our day, the present controversy between the so-called Fundamentalist and Modernist parties in the churches cannot but be of great interest. Dr. Ritchie has made a careful study of the whole development and in his address on Sunday will deal partly with the Fundamentalist position and attitude.

As on previous Sundays ample time will be left for questions at the close of the speaker's remarks. All McGill men are cordially invited to be present and to take part in the discussion.

hundred dollars to the first dentist who can produce this state immediately by chemical filling or other ways. A further proof of the efficacy of the apparatus is shown by the fact that the shadow remains after the extraction. There are three types of shadow—a large one the long narrow one, and the shallow one directly round a tooth.

Congestion in various parts of the mouth and also on the frontal sinus, can be made out, and the transillumination plan is the only method known whereby disease can be found. This method is used extensively by the workers at the Chicago Post-graduate clinic, perhaps the largest free clinic in the world.

Mr. Cameron drew a parallel between congestion in the gums and the ordinary abscess, showing how it developed. At the end of this interesting talk, Mr. Cameron demonstrated the lamp, and showed in his own mouth the various conditions of bright red glow, with dark shadows—clear healthy tissues reflecting a showing the infected places.

At the end of the meeting, the President moved a vote of thanks which was heartily applauded. The group then adjourned to the assembly room where refreshments were served. The new invention is likely to revolutionize the science of dentistry diagnosis, and it is a great honour to McGill students to have this apparatus completely demonstrated before them in preference to any other University.

MACCABAEANS HOLD DISCUSSION GROUP

Second Meeting To-morrow Evening At 8:15

Two subjects of vital interest are to be discussed tomorrow evening at the second meeting of the Maccabean Study Group. The meeting, which is to begin at 8:15 sharp is to take place at the home of Bernard Cohen, president of the Maccabean Circle, 466 Wilson Avenue N. D. G.

"The Races of Mankind" the first question to be discussed is to be introduced by Gordon Levey '25. From the subject "Is There a Jewish Race?" This is to be dealt with by A. Benjamin '24.

The success of the first meeting held two weeks ago when "Racial Differences" were discussed warrants an interesting evening tomorrow.

DINNER AT STRATHCONA HALL MONDAY

Sir Robert Borden will Give Address

NO CHARGE

Thanksgiving Dinner for Out Of Town Students

Sir Robert Borden, famous Canadian statesman, will be the chief speaker at the grand Thanksgiving Dinner to be held at the Strathcona Hall Monday evening at 6:15. Sir Robert Borden, whose career in British and Canadian politics is well known to everyone, needs no introduction. He received the degree of Doctor of Laws from this University in 1913, and is well-known socially in Montreal, being a member of the Mount Royal Club. Being President of the League of Nations Society of Canada, he is one of the greatest authorities on this subject, and it is thought that his address at the dinner will be on this topic. Sir Robert is to deliver an address on this subject at the People's Forum shortly.

The banquet is free to students of McGill whose homes are outside of Montreal and tickets may be obtained on request at the office, Strathcona Hall. Attendance is limited to one hundred and fifty students, so that there be no crowding. A program of music will be arranged, in which it is probable that the Strathcona Hall orchestra will be the star artists.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Strathcona Hall, which is composed mainly of the wives of the McGill professors, will tender refreshments. Those who were at last year's dinner will remember the excellent quality of last year's meal, which were prepared by the same august body. This year's dinner bids fair to be the finest ever held. The Thanksgiving dinner has been an event always looked forward to, and the social committee have never failed to enlist the services of a really good speaker. Last year Mr. H. Ross, a noted city lawyer, spoke, and previous speakers included Mr. Wm. Birks, hon. Travel-agent of the S. C. A. and others.

Over seven hundred students have subscribed to the fund, and considering the amount realized a fairly good average is shown. It is important, however, that those who have not sent in their returns should do so to-day.

"LIT" TO HEAR TWO PAPERS AT MEETING

"Democracy and Literature" Subject for Discussion

NEW ACTIVITY

Bert Wells Tells of Need for Literary Activities

"Democracy and Literature" is the subject that has been selected for consideration at the first meeting of the Literary and Debating Society to be held on Wednesday next, November 12 at Strathcona Hall. For the first time in years the "literary" side of the society is to be considered, and two papers are to be presented on the extremely controversial subject that has been chosen.

A. Norman James, Arths '35 and '37 are to present the papers in which the manifold aspects of democracy and literature will be considered. James, who holds the Tabot Papineau Memorial Cup for extempore oratory, which he won last year, has been particularly active in the "Lit" and has fought many battles of word and wit on the floor of the Mock Parliament. Bernard Cohen stands equally prominent as an active participant not only in the Mock Parliament but in the numerous debates that were staged last year, in which he acquitted himself with splendid success.

"We are trying a new experiment. I do not know what the outcome will be, but I feel certain that there are many students interested in literary discussion, and it is to stimulate this that we have decided not to be contented, not to go into merely debating activities, but also to bring of literary problems such as are of interest to the students body as a whole."

With these words Bert Wells, president of the Literary and Debating Society, told a Daily representative last night of the step about to be taken by the society.

"I believe they had something of this sort many years ago," Wells declared, "and what we want to do is not only to revive that which has, during past years, come to be neglected, but to make it one of the prominent features of our college activities."

MANDOLIN-BANJO CLUB ORGANIZES

Difficulties of Past few Weeks Cleared Up

Owing to a mistake of the Daily the notice for last Tuesday's practice of the Mandolin Club was put in Wednesday's issue and caused some confusion. However there will be a practice every Tuesday night from 7 to 8 or 8:30 P. M. at Ponto's Studio, corner of Drummond and St. Catherine streets. The first practice cannot be held for three weeks due to the difficulties of organization.

The Mandolin and Banjo Club has been in existence for several years and has always been popular, all players of string instruments are encouraged to join, especially mandolins, banjos, cellos, and violins if they can play obligato parts. Wind instruments including saxophones, trombones, clarinets and trumpets are also eligible. The positions of piano player and drummer are open to any aspiring musician.

The executive has placed lists of students who when registering, signified their ability to play some instrument, and has asked those students, who are able to play with the club to place a check after their names. All those having the ability and time to play are requested to check off their names if they have not already done so.

The music will consist of popular dance selections together with mandolin marches. Mr. Geo. Peato, the former instructor of the club is unable to take charge this year but has placed Mr. Kent, of Ottawa, who has had twelve years' experience in work of this kind, at the disposal of the club.

All present and prospective members are urged to be at the first practice Nov. 11th at time and place specified above.

DR. FOSTER SPOKE BEFORE PHYSICISTS

Separation of Special Lines in Electrostatic Field

Before the McGill Physical Society a lecture was delivered yesterday afternoon by Dr. Foster, a newly-arrived professor at this University on the separation of certain special lines due to an electrostatic field. This subject has so far been little exploited, and is therefore offers a new field of interesting experiments. Dr. Foster explained the theoretical side and also told of experiments which he had performed at the University as Yale, which conformed perfectly to the theory, and which discredited the results of other experiments along the line to bear out the theory—same lines, which have not seemed to be a good attendance of both students and staff. A full report of Dr. Foster speech will appear in next Tuesday's Daily.

MISSIONARY VOLUNTEER BAND MEETS

Mr. McEown of Toronto Addresses Group

INTEREST INTENSE

Meets Fridays at Seven: Invitation Extended To All

The McGill Student Volunteer Band held its second meeting of the year in Strathcona Hall last evening at seven o'clock. Mr. McEown, from Toronto, spoke on ways and means of creating a more intense heart-interest among those students interested in missionary work; after which some discussion ensued with regards to organization and executive details.

Mr. McEown is well known as identified with the Student Volunteer Movement, for he is the travelling secretary for Canada, and has had much experience in this line of endeavour through intimate contact with this movement in the United States. He emphasized the need for a broad, full-sided view of the world's conditions as they exist today.

He pointed out how University life tends to put the student out of sympathy with the stream and stress of life as experienced by the man in the street, and advised closer personal contact, and the acquisition of the ability to put oneself in the other man's shoes.

The Student Volunteer Movement started at a conference of Students at Mount Hermon in 1886. Its primary purpose was that of Bible study. Robert P. Wilder, at that time a student at Princeton, was among those invited to attend this Conference. His great ambition was to evoke an interest in Foreign Missions, for heretofore no place had been allowed on the agenda for such a consideration. For two weeks, Wilder and a few other students of like interest, worked exceedingly hard. Their endeavours were responsible for "the meeting of the Ten Nations" at which students representing ten different nationalities spoke, each on conditions in his own individual country. This was the beginning of the Missionary Movement at the Conference, and from this point interest rapidly spread.

The following winter Robert Wilder and John Forman were appointed to visit the universities of the United States and Canada, and the results of this move were highly gratifying to all those students who were interested in the promulgation of missionary activity. Their one great hope was that ultimately a thousand university men might become foreign missionaries, at the present time over ten thousand are actually called for missionary service.

Mr. McEown defined the purpose of the band at McGill as an endeavour to not already done so.

The music will consist of popular dance selections together with mandolin marches. Mr. Geo. Peato, the former instructor of the club is unable to take charge this year but has placed Mr. Kent, of Ottawa, who has had twelve years' experience in work of this kind, at the disposal of the club.

All present and prospective members are urged to be at the first practice Nov. 11th at time and place specified above.

NOTED HISTORIAN TO LECTURE HERE

Prof. Pollard, of University Of London

Professor A. F. Pollard M. A., authority on constitutional history, and Professor of English History and Chairman of the Institute of Historical Research in the University of London will deliver a lecture at McGill University during his visit to Montreal this fall. The subject of his address and the date on which it will be delivered will be announced later.

Professor Pollard will visit Montreal on his way to the United States to attend a meeting of the American Historical Association being held at Richmond, Virginia, from December 27th to 30th. During his stay in the United States Prof. Pollard will give a course of lectures at Columbia University.

About twelve English historians are expected to come to America to attend the American Historical Society, and it is anticipated that several of this number will pay Montreal a visit during their stay on this side. It is hoped that in addition to Prof. Pollard it can be arranged for two or three other historians to give lectures within the next few weeks. Professor Pollard was appointed member of the Government Commission on the League of Nations in 1918. He is also the author of a number of important historical works.

FIRST LECTURE IN LYCEUM COURSE

Dr. Macmillan Gives Address At Ottawa

The Lyceum Course at Ottawa commenced last night with a lecture by Dr. Cyrus Macmillan who gave a specially prepared talk with illustrations on the Theatre as it was in the days of Shakespeare.

It may be noted that the University, in response to numerous suggestions, and in co-operation with the Ottawa Valley Graduate Society, decided to offer a Lyceum course of lectures, to be given in Ottawa during the winter of 1924-25. The lectures are being delivered by members of the McGill Staff on every second Friday through-out the winter, except during the Christmas vacation, at 8:30 p. m. in the Chateau Laurier. While the speakers are endeavouring to give the most recent information and the newest views of the various subjects covered by the course, the manner of treatment will be a thoroughly popular one and will consequently be very interesting to a large number of people.

The next lecture will be given by Dr. G. R. Lomer, Librarian at the University, on the Development of the Manuscript, on the 21st of November gather together all students in the University who are interested in missions in order that their interest may be stimulated through a further study of conditions in foreign lands and through addresses from time to time by those who are acquainted with the various fields in which our missionaries are labouring.

The group will meet every Friday evenings at seven o'clock in Strathcona Hall, and would welcome all who are interested in this aspect of Christian work. Next Friday there will be a symposium of five-minute addresses on such subjects as "Why should interest be taken in Missions?" and "How can this interest best be excited?"

DANCERS AND MUSIC MADE GREAT NIGHT

Over One Hundred Couples In Ball Room

SECOND INFORMAL

Bobby Burland's Orchestra Supplied Music

Seeking refuge from the trials and tribulations of undergraduate life a joyous band of hair-plastered students stormed the Union last night to find oblivion in the soothing charms of syncopeated melody. The haunting strains of dreamy waltzes and fleet-foot fox-trots inspired even the most reluctant feet to perfect rhythm.

Bobby Burland and his jazz artists surpassed themselves in tending to grateful ears the late songs for dance. The bright-coloured apparel of bewitching partners served to illuminate the darkened nooks. The very faces of Sir William Macdonald and Sir William Peterson serenely looking on this array of youth, were lit up with benevolent smiles.

At midnight came the feast, and couples, arm in arm, trailed downstairs to the awaiting repast, forgetful even of the dance for hunger beckoned. When they returned to dance, filled to the full, their movements were noticeably slower. On the whole this informal only emphasized the popularity of these events, and was in every way as brilliant and successful as any yet.

The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. French and Miss Joan Foster.

The following ladies were present:—Misses M. Parker, Lillian Troy, M. Summers, E. Turnbull, M. McNaughton, Kay Bules, Bird Lothran, Margaret Baume, Rothdon Linstead, Rothdam, M. DERBY HATS, CLASS TIES AND OVERALLS GONE BY THE BOARD

Derby hats, class ties and overalls, have all gone the way of the world so far as their utility as a sophomore class distinction at Washington State College is concerned. Past sophomore classes have endeavored in vain to find a class distinction that, in addition to being on the same high plane with white corduroys and green caps would properly distinguish the mighty sophs, and which could be worn by the co-ed half of the class as well as by the men.

The class of '27 pining for a distinction that would be worn more frequently than the derbies of the '25 class, and which could be used in years to come as well, finally arrived at a popular choice. Black and white sweater vest bearing the numerals "27" on the lower left hand corner, have been adopted as the official sophomore distinction. Although the s-phis felt that they were noticeable enough to need no mark by which the student body might recognize them, they agreed that in the interests of class loyalty and good dress they should have some article of apparel which would denote the proud sophomores and no other.

INDIANA STUDENTS SHOULD NOT RUN SHORT OF WATER

University students at Indiana will not be hit as hard as townspeople if the water supply runs out again this year as it did two years ago, said Charles Hays, superintendent of buildings and grounds, yesterday. Tentative preparations are being made already to provide a water supply by hauling from the power house, so that if the need does arise there will be no delay, Mr. Hays stated.

The system adopted during the crisis in 1922 of hauling water in large tanks carried on trucks, and dumping it into large cans, tubs, buckets and wash boilers placed in front of houses occupied by students, is to be used again if necessary. Three trucks were in use then, two of which carried tanks, while the third was filled with 20-gallon cans from which the water was poured into the receptacles at each house. The trucks will be filled from a pipe running underground from the University power plant to the driveway just west. The pipe will be suspended from a tree in order to make filling of the tanks easier. The water comes from the University dam north of town, where there is a supply large enough to cause no fear of its being exhausted for a long time, Hays said.

NO PLACE FOR THE LONE WOLF.

Some time ago a would-be anthropologist caused considerable excitement in certain scientific circles by the announcement that he had discovered either a new type of animal or else the lone survivor of some forgotten race. Somewhere in the wild woods he had stumbled upon a creature whose physical structure strongly resembled that of man, but whose habits and mode of life were little different from those of wild beasts. Elated by the prospect of achieving lasting fame, he made his announcement without making proper investigation, only to find when his specimen was examined that he had discovered nothing more nor less than a man.

This little incident, apparently unimportant, is yet indicative of a certain very fundamental characteristic of man. The fact that a human being separated from society, probably in early childhood, in the space of a few years becomes so altered and debased as to be mistaken for an animal, is truly significant. Man's nature is essentially a social nature. From time to time throughout history individuals have tried to divorce themselves from society, always with the same disastrous result. Prisoners locked up in solitary confinement have been changed into raging beasts. Shipwrecked sailors stranded on desert islands have descended to the level of savages. Religious fanatics in their search for divine light have sacrificed reason to solitude. No human can exist without social intercourse with his fellowmen. "No man liveth unto himself."

Here and there in present day society we find people who do not seem to realize the truth of this statement. The over-assiduous student, labouring under the fallacy that learning is the only worth while goal, is really unfitting himself for his future life. The philosopher whose thoughts roam among the clouds, and who lives in a dreamland of ideals, loses touch with the object of his theories, which is humanity. The cynic who stands aloof and scoffs at men is preparing for himself a world of bitterness, a world whose chill grey aspect will be unrelieved by the warmth and brightness of human society.

Each of us has a contribution to make, and in society the great law of compensation holds true just as in other phases of life, for unless we can make our contribution we can receive no benefit ourselves. The student must ally his learning to life; the recluse must forget himself and mingle with the outside world; the cynic must remember his own defects and learn to appreciate the good qualities of his fellowman.

CONDENSED COMMENT

At this early stage in the session especially, there are a number of out-of-town students who have not established friendly relations with people in the city. Consequently, at a festive period such as Thanksgiving, they may feel keenly the lack of convivial and home-like associations. The S.C.A., is providing a Thanksgiving dinner at Strathcona Hall on Monday night for such students. Although the number attending is necessarily limited, those who find a place at the festive table will be assured of an excellent programme and an atmosphere conducive to a true Thanksgiving spirit.

SENIOR TEAM NEARS LAST ENCOUNTERS

McGill Meets M.A.A.A. And Toronto Next Week

Queen's Varsity

Tri-colour and Blue and White Play in Toronto To-day

While "Old Bill" the Groundsman kept the curious out of the grounds the first team put in another hard practice yesterday, keeping going until after dark, when they played on in the misty glare of the search-lights placed up on the stands.

Murphy took Hughes' place in the back-field along with Hanna and Cormorran, while Jack Mickle and Al Blair alternated at quarter. Captain Little was in his regular position at left end while Hillipolt and M'len were used at the other. The McCombes Boucher, Manson, and Spears were on the line, with Gordon at flying wing.

While the Red and White squad does not go into action until Monday Thanksgiving Day, when they meet the M. A. A. A. here, Toronto and Queen's are battling today in Toronto in a game which should decide whether the Tricolour are going to get their third successive championship. A win for Queen's means the title. The worst they can now do is to tie for first place, and to bring this about Varsity besides defeating the champions has to overcome McGill here in a week's time, which is quite a large order. Queen's are generally considered favourites for to-day's contest. In their last game against the Red and White they were displaying championship form. They had to, if they are going as well to-day, they ought to be able to beat Toronto, but it is certain to be a great game, with two famous back-fields in action, the Snyder-Pequegnat combination against the Leadley-Badstone pair.

M. A. A. A. are hardly expected to be able to stop the university men on Monday. Hughes will not be used, but Murphy has been working in his place, while the rest of the squad should be at full strength when the championship of the city will be decided at the Stadium. Then on the following Saturday, the 15th, Varsity comes here for the last encounter of the intercollegiate schedule. If Queen's win to-day, then McGill can tie Toronto for second place by defeating the Blue and White in the last game. That's what happened last year, and it looks as though there is going to be the same thing happen this season.

HIGHLANDERS PLAY SOCCER MATCH TO-DAY

Dr. Ruttan to Kick-off at 2:30 p.m.

GAME AT STADIUM

McGill Also Meets Canadian
Vickers on Monday A.M.

The Molson Memorial Stadium will be the scene of an interesting struggle this afternoon when the Royal Highlanders meet the McGill Soccer team at 2:30 p.m. This match has provoked considerable curiosity, and opinion is very much divided as to the outcome. The interest of the Montreal Soccer public in the Red and White eleven was aroused some weeks ago, when they won their first match, and with each succeeding victory the surprise has increased. Lacking the six months of hard playing in weekly matches that the Montreal clubs have enjoyed, and with only five weeks practice it is astonishing that the team should have defeated five of the best teams in the different leagues during that time.

The Royal Highlanders are a team with considerable experience, and now at the end of a very successful season. They are in excellent condition and will rely on this to defeat the students. But where condition is the test, no fear is entertained by the Red and White men, for they also are splendidly fit, and are quite capable of playing for an hour and a half in the fastest pace. The Highlanders are also turning out the best team they can, for they realize that it will take a much stronger aggression than any the McGill players have yet met to defeat them.

Dr. R. E. Ruttan, Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Honorary President of the McGill Soccer Club, has kindly consented to kick off this afternoon. Dr. Ruttan has rendered the Club many services since his connection with it and has followed its progress with keen interest.

Unfortunately the game against the Grenadier Guards had to be postponed, as they have several games next week, and it is found that they will have need of all the rest they can have. This announcement was a disappointment to many, and it was very fortunate that a match with the Canadian Vickers could be arranged instead. This game will be played at the Stadium on Monday morning at 10 a.m., and should be even more thrilling than Saturday's match, as the Vickers are the second team in the Montreal League, and would prove worthy rivals of any team in Canada. To be defeated by them would be no disgrace, but the Red and White eleven are very cheerful about the result, and will not entertain the possibility of a defeat.

This game will close the schedule of the McGill Soccer team in Montreal as during next week they will only indulge in some light workouts to keep them in condition for their Inter-collegiate fixture against Varsity in Toronto on November 15.

The team playing against the Highlanders has been carefully selected, and is the best procurable. The eleven is perfectly balanced, and by the form shown in the practice game yesterday every man is in perfect condition. For two hours the players worked, and special attention was paid to footwork dribbling and placing. The team is very optimistic and are quite confident that this week end will see two more victories added to the uninterrupted list. They are determined to go through the season without a defeat, and to win the Championship for McGill for the first time.

As on Saturday last, the team will meet in the Union at 1:15 p.m. and will eat at the Training Table. Each man must bring his uniform, as crocks will have to be put on the jerseys before the game.

The following is the line-up:—
Easterbrook Goal.
Cave Right Back.
Stephenson Left Back.
Glover Right Half.
Archdale Centre Half.
Helwig Left Half.
Kelland Outside Right.
Scott Inner Right.
Seaton Centre Forward.

FOUR NO MORE IS LAMENT OF PHILOSOPHERS

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Other Improvement in Arts Building to Follow

All day yesterday excitement reigned supreme in the Arts Building. From wild-eyed freshmen to grave bespectacled seniors ran the current of disbelief, of curiosity, of Political Economy looked the absorbing interest it usually possesses, and only one subject filled the minds and tongues if the incredulous throngs. "The Arts Building is being rebuilt." That was the startling, incredible news. Bill Gentlemen, overwhelmed by the questions of the curious, took refuge beneath the stairs and fended off reporters with a billiard cue. Baffled in their burning thirst for knowledge, the crowd, led by a lady wearing a red hat with green feathers and tortoiseshell glasses, followed the swarm of carpenters, painters and wreckers.

Upstairs and downstairs travelled the trail, with the pack running hard and giving tongue at every opportunity. At last the red-battered explorer, although seemingly in the best of health, besought her aides to bring her to nurse to kiss, and collapsed. With goggling eyes, her attendants trampled over her prostrate body, and paused, thunderstruck. Into the unenterable room of rooms, where only ignorant freshmen once dared to venture, led the trail. From it proceeded howls of anguish and loads of books. The mighty powers, it seemed, had at length contrived to rebuild the northeastern corner of the building, and to do this had commenced to tear down plaster, and remove ancient towers etc.

Dust and ladders forbade further exploration, but such hardships were ignored. The truth must be known, and it was no longer would classes of giggling damsels creep past room number four. For four was no more. The words were passed from mouth to mouth. Then it was changed to "No more is Four" and repassed. Then variation after variation flowed and floated in the dusty air. The home of philosophy had suffered a fate that only a philosopher could bear. Those familiar shelves, burdened for a quarter of a century with the wisdom of ages, were being ruthlessly removed to the cellar, where dismayed attendants hopped and howled. And still they came.

Rumours for the operations were thick one reverent youth spread the report that the search was for Tolo, the first Pom ever lost in the Arts Building rat-holes. But this was con-

INITIAL GAMES OF SNOOKER TOURNAMENT

First Round of Snooker Tournament Proves Exciting

Devotees of the ball and cue were treated to a series of interesting and in some cases exciting games in the Snooker and Billiard Tournament at the Union. The number of participants may not be so great this year, but the interest is immensely proportional.

In the first game of the first series Rosenhek made a marvelous recovery taking the last four balls to win the game. He won the next game handsily thus eliminating E. Gross. B. Samuel surprised everybody by winning two straight from A. Glencher, while Ebe Yaphe, who was looked upon as a coming champion lost two games to W. Stein by game ball. The finals series of the first round was the most spectacular, M. Schwartz succumbing to the more experienced Bob Robertson who sank the last four balls to take the series.

P. Webb won the first game in the Billiard tournament from Bob Robertson by the narrow margin of five points. Some interesting games will be provided for the fans in the final rounds next week.

R.V.C. TO HOLD THE DANCANTS THIS SESSION

Decision Made at Undergrad.
Meeting Yesterday

Also Made Change In Constitution

Several important matters were brought before the meeting of the Royal Victoria College Undergraduate Society held yesterday in the R. V. C. at one o'clock. The meeting was very successful, there being a good attendance and much interest displayed in the discussion of the various questions.

A charge was made in the Constitution, in the clause concerning the grants made to the subsidiary societies. Formerly there were five societies and the Reading Room to which annual grants were made. This year, however the formation of the Choral Society makes an additional one, and therefore it necessitates the alteration of the percentages allotted to each subsidiary society. Owing to the large registration this session the funds of the Undergraduate Society have increased so that in spite of the fact the individual percentages have been made smaller, there has been a very little change made in the actual amount granted to the various societies. It was decided by the meeting to leave the matter of the arrangement of the percentages to the executive. A clause, to the effect that in the event of the formation of a new society the matter of allotting the grants be left in the hands of the executive, was therefore substituted for the old clause.

Letters requesting grants of money were then read from the R. V. C. S. C. A. and from the Delta Sigma Society, the latter asking for funds to help repay the expenses of intercollegiate debating. In order to raise funds for these two societies and also for the new Choral Society it was decided to hold two. The Dancants this session.

One will be held before Christmas and one after. The following committee was elected to take charge of the proceedings:—

Covenor:—V. Cameron.
Fourth Year:—E. Baker.
Third Year:—M. DeBlois.
Second Year:—L. Robertson.
First Year:—B. Carter.

The final business of the meeting was the arrangement of several matters regarding the sale of tickets and the division of the proceeds

HARRIER CLUB HAS STILL ONE EVENT

Dunlop Road Race Sees End
Of Programme

With the Dunlop Road race, about November 22nd, the list of events on the Harrier club programme for the season will be brought to an end. This competition, over a route of five miles, is under the auspices of the North Branch Y. M. C. A., although open to teams from any recognized club in the city. The year before last two groups of men in it ran in the McGill colours while last year only one team wore red-and-white.

However, the Harrier executive have expressed their intention of entering as many men in the race as are likely to do credit to McGill. The long-distance men's season is by no means over, and the number turning out for practice will decide the Red and White strength in the coming meet. There will be at least one strong group of college representatives, when some five men will be chosen from such runners as Brain, Goforth, Rubin, Airky, Clement Boness, Herr, and Brodie of course, several of these may decide to give up the part for the season but enough of them are still working to form the making of two teams.

Men who are intending to compete with the Harriers next year are especially requested to put in an appearance at the practices, held Monday, Wednesday and Friday at five, the weather permitting. This time in the year is ideal for work which will build up the muscles necessary for a six-mile run. Every work out now will be of real value next fall, besides putting the athlete into splendid condition for such sport as skating or boxing. The Harriers are anxious to commence work as soon as college opens next autumn, and every man should cover the mountain courses as frequently as possible.

If two teams are entered in the coming Dunlop race, at least four new men will be needed. It is likely that a run will be held over the actual competition course in the next few days (those who show up well being chosen to represent McGill).

Considered improbable for the reputed remains of Tolo had been found last year by Harry in a Freshman's locker. The only possible conclusion was that someone had got lost in the gloomy depths of the cellars, and that Tutanmilamen's successor was nearing public view.

SCIENCE WINS INTERFACULTY RUGBY TITLE

Commerce Is Defeated In Final Game

BONES BROKEN

Teams Struggle on Muddy
Field for Championship

In a game that was notable for the number of penalties that were dished out by the officials, the fast Commerce team met defeat at the hands of the heavier and more experienced Science squad by the score of 19 to 3. The ground was slippery with the recent rain, the ball was too wet and heavy for the punters to kick with either height, distance or accuracy. Both teams were not at full strength, the Commercialists having lost their stellar half-back, Eveleigh, and Science was short the services of "Tep" Ellis injured in the Science-Medicine fracas. In the second and third quarters the Business men lost two more when MacLaren smashed a rib and Robertson suffered a broken arm.

In the opening period Science kicked off and Commerce recovered about forty yards out. Two line bucks failed to make ten yards and the Commercialists were forced to kick, the punters running the ball back to centre field. Science did not make the required distance in two attempts and Dowling made a pretty running catch of Hyman's kick. Aided by two Science penalties Commerce reached their opponents forty yard line. Two line bucks netted five yards and Morell drop kicked for three points and the first score of the game.

Science kicked off from their forty yard line and Commerce recovered on their fifty yard line. Science now resorted to a kicking game and after a series of exchanges obtained the ball twenty-five yards from the opposing goal. Hyman's drop-kick failed but Dowling's fumble of the punt behind his own goal line gave the Scientists their first touch-down, which was not converted. No further scoring occurred during the rest of the period, and the half time score was Science 5, Commerce 2.

Science still found kicking very profitable and Hyman returned Lehan's punts whenever possible. The much a stone wall, and their end wings were heavier Science line was holding like allowed plenty of time to get down the field, and they continually dropped the Commerce half-backs without a gain. After another series of exchanges the Science team obtained on their opponents fifteen yard mark and in three bucks through the line made yards and a touch-down, but again failed to convert.

Commerce kicked off to Science who obtained on their thirty-five yard line, and punted on the first down. Commerce recovered and Lehan kicked on the third down to Hyman who returned it, Dowling being thrown over his own goal line for a safety touch. This ended the scoring for the quarter.

The fourth quarter round the much weakened Commercialists trying desperately to gain through the medium of onside kicks. One of these netted ten yards, but the others were recovered by opposing backs for a small gain a third kick was blocked and Vernot, the hefty swimmer of the Science squad, kicked the ball over the Commerce touch line, and then waddled after it for a third, which Hyman converted. Commerce kicked off and Science began kicking on the first down. Once, while attempting a punt, Hyman slipped and fell dropping the ball as he did so. Kelland burst through and booted the ball towards the Scientists' goal. A scramble took place for the loose ball, and after it was over Powers and Hyman were put off for the rest of the game. Science recovered the ball and again resorted to kicking, making big gains on each exchange. Toward the end of the quarter Dowling missed a bounding ball and was roused for the final point of the game. The final score was Science 19, Commerce 3.

For Commerce Kenrick, Lehan, Kelland, Harcourt and Morell were the pick while Hyman, Smith, Norris and Timmins were the best, the latter playing a wonderful game at outside wing.

The following is the line-up of the teams:—

MAN'S HEAD WORKS LIKE A MACHINE

Naum Lipofsky Has Marvelous Memory

EXHIBITS POWERS

Performs Arithmetical Problems Like Automaton

The members of a Psychology class were treated to a very pleasant diversion instead of their usual lecture yesterday morning, when they saw and heard a demonstration of a man's phenomenal powers of memory. Naum Lipofsky, the man in question, who has been only eight months in this country astonished the students as the memory feats he performed.

He was introduced to the audience by Dr. Taft who was an interested spectator at the proceedings, and it was evident that he marvelled no less than the students at Mr. Lipofsky's powers. With the aid of Etzioni, a member of Arts '27 who acted as interpreter, the visitor announced that he was able to give the cube of 4 any double number without hesitation. No matter what number was given him more quickly than it would take to multiplying it on paper. He stressed the fact that there was no trick connected with his accomplishment, he said, that he had previously cubed the numbers, and he remembered the answers.

In his next exhibition, he proved conclusively that his mind is an eternal calendar, since he could remember the days as far back as two thousand years; He called for dates of any century whatsoever, and he would give the day that that date fell on. However, no one felt inclined to name a date, since no proof could be had whether the performer was correct or not. To prove that he knew what he was talking about, Mr. Lipofsky, asked to be given birthday dates, and he would tell on what day of the week they fell, as well as the corresponding days in the present year. Impossible as this feat may seem, it was also accomplished to the astonishment of all.

We then passed to the audience a tape of numbers about ten yards long, stretching from one end of the room to the other. Without any difficulty, the numbers rolled rapidly from his lips. He did not need to look at the tape to know the numbers; they were simply impressed upon his powerful memory, and it was the easiest thing in the world for him to pronounce them.

After this, to illustrate his ability at memorizing anything new, a list of concrete words were put on the blackboard, and while they were being written, Mr. Lipofsky impressed them on his memory. When he heard that only fifteen words were given him, he felt disgusted at the simple task before him. He expected a list of at least two hundred words! However, since the hour was almost up, he contented himself with that paltry number, and without looking at the board pronounced the words forwards and backwards. The applause was tremendous.

This is not the only university where Mr. Lipofsky has demonstrated his powers. He has shown his faculty for recollecting things at Harvard, Taft, Columbia, Yale and Wesleyan Colleges; and at each of the above institutions he has received a wonderful reception.

It is interesting to note that as a youngster Mr. Lipofsky claims, he never took the trouble to work at his homework lessons. Instead, he used to listen to his room-mate reciting his and hearing them only once, was able to go to school with the entire lesson in his memory!

Mr. Lipofsky's demonstrations proved conclusively to the students of psychology the tremendous power of the memory when it is fully developed.

R.V.C. DEBATES WITH VARSITY & QUEEN'S

Final arrangements have now been made for forming a Womens' Inter-collegiate Debating Union. For two years debates have been held between Queen's and R.V.C. This year Toronto expressed a desire to join, so a Union has been formed on the same basis as that of the men.

R.V.C. will debate against Queen's in Montreal and against Varsity in Toronto. While Queen's and Toronto meet in Kingston. The subject chosen is "Resolved that Unions of Unemployed Workmen are Beneficial to Society" and the debate will be held on Saturday, November 22nd.

The R.V.C. debaters are Miss J. Gurd and Miss M. MacSporran, who will go to Toronto, and Miss E. Englund and Miss I. Sorlier who will debate at home.

This is a new venture in the activities of R.V.C. and was entered upon at the wish of the student body, so that it demands the support of every woman undergraduate. It is hoped that everyone will realize their responsibility and stand by the debaters, on whom the burden falls, and secure a large audience in the Convocation Hall on Nov. 22nd.

FOOLISH ESCORT IS CONVINCED OF FOLLY IN DESERTING ROOTERS

Two weeks ago I took a girl to the Queen's football match. During the few minutes not devoted to applauding mangled warriors who were being assisted off the field (whether because their loss weakened them and encouraged their opponents, or because they had striven mightily, seemed immaterial to my sweet young friend) the lady set out to convince me of the error of my ways. Not that she is a Theolog in skirts. My particular fall from grace was that I did not fully appreciate the fact that women to-day were generally as competent as men, often more so,
and much better fitted to support themselves than to exist financially speaking, at the whim of some tyrant in trousers.

After due thought, I agreed that they were peculiarly fitted to support themselves. I even wondered how I could ever have thought otherwise, and was rewarded with a dogging smile
for my unheeded flight of imagination. My fair and excited companion then picture the ideal state in which a woman would not always feel inferior through having to accept everything from a mere man. It suddenly struck me that I would like to have all the women feel superior for a while, in a kind of glorified Leap Year.

The slightly flushed lecturer, with encouraging questions from me still interrupted by applause, went on to point out how women had always been mentally superior to man. (They certainly got the goods, as my once bulky pocket book could show)
"Why," she said "in the newspaper
you can see how it was the cave woman who painted all the cave pictures
and did all the intelligent cave acts, while her Lord and Master (with a very contemptuous sniff) Oh—he got kicked on the head"—evidently referring to a griddon berserk who was at the moment being carried feet
first towards the dressing room.

Tradition, she continued, was the force that made the battle for feminine independence so stubborn. No man could bear to think that he could not support all the families in the world, if need be, without womanly
aid. And that was of course, unadulterated foolishness. "Why?" she exclaimed "am entirely independent and free. Not a man interfered with my life. Naturally. Dad pays little things like dress expenses, and board bills, but I seldom run into him unless he smokes his pipe in the drawing room.

"I have complete liberty. I have my own money, amusements and worry, and am not obliged to depend on any boy for fun" And so she ended, very emphatically. I considered it rather hard to have this thrown at me after paying for two reserved seats less the price of a rooter's ticket. But I, poor fool, wanted to please her, so I said, "Well, when you have all the money you need, the fun you can enjoy, and so on, don't you feel that you are just as good as any boy in making your way in the world?"

"I certainly do," she replied "I feel myself as capable as any boy at McGill. If it were not for the horrible traditions, old as the Arts Building, a boy can ask a girl to a football match or to tea, if he wants to,
but not the other way round. And I'm as independent as anybody."

"Of course you are," I said happy with a new idea, "and to show how I sympathize with you, I'll let you pay for tea."

We parted in silence some two minutes later. She did not seem consistent. But upon reflection, I decided that she was merely feminine.

THE IMPERIAL

Feats almost inhuman will be displayed at the Imperial next week by Miss Farheid, the Strong Girl, who does with equal ease and much more grace any of the herculean stunts of the present day Sandow. She is as strong as steel, and despite her amazing physical development, Miss Far-heid has not lost a particle of her femininity. She makes springs of strips of iron, sledge hammers play
a chorus on an anvil resting on her chest. She holds horses in check; draws a loaded truck and performs other amazing and apparently impossible feats.

Billy McDermott who bills himself
as the "Only Survivor of Coxey's Army" is a tramp comedian with as many laughs in his monologue as there are patches on his clothes.

There are salesmen in all lines, but
Mr. Billy Kelly is a new kind of sale-man. He sells dancing steps. He not only sells them but he demonstrates
only sells them but he demonstrates and teaches them. Miss Katherine Dearborn proves a prospective buyer
and an apt pupil.

James Thompson has been dubbed
"Fat" because of his avoirdupois.
Flesh may be a worry to the dietician
but is an asset to certain comedians and certainly is to Mr. Thompson.
He is a blackface funster. Thompson and his two associates offer a skill called "The Burglar's Union".

Take a large hunk of personality and add to it a liberal supply of charm and you have Ann Adams and Gertrude Lillian. They sing and play and even look about as pleasing as girls should look. The Kitaros display a super-active degree of Japanese Dexterity.

Ma's Hammer, supported by Elliot Dexter and Kathryn Williams
will be seen in "Broadway Gold", a tale told amid the gorgeous settings of Broadway's thrilling high life, weaving out of it a thread of romance with love triumphant.

GOOD MATERIAL IN BASKETBALL SQUAD

About 18 Men Will Constitute Seniors—Remainder
At Molson's Hall

The basketball club was cut last night after its fourth workout of the season. The coaches have been on the lookout for the best players since the first practice, and have now decided upon about eighteen men who are picked for the senior squad. These men held their workout under Coach
Van Wagner last night while Coach
Moore took charge of the less experienced players. The squad was put through a fast passing practice as Coach Moore insisted on the men being able to handle the ball well at first. From now on the following men will workout in the M. H. S. gym—
Quackenbush, Blumenfeld, Surpel
Davis, Koff, Hod na, Connor, John McLean, Milne, Cole, Copping, Silverman, Weldon, Grant, Tinkas, Ran-say and Loomis.

This does not mean that the other men been overlooked. They will work out on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week under Coach Moore
in Molson's Hall. Mr. Van Wagner squad to turn out on Monday at 5 wants every man who has been turning out and who is not on the senior squad. There will be two teams one intermediate and the other Junior, picked from these men. Some player who have not been picked may be just as good as men on the squad
and the practices at Molson's Hall will give them a chance to prove their worth. If any of the men show up very well over there they will not be overlooked, and will probably be

SPECIAL COURSE FOR JR. BANKERS

Lectures Will Commence on November 18th

The University is giving a special Junior Bankers' course this year comprising lectures in English, Psychology and Negotiable Instruments, on Tuesdays and Thursday at 5:30 P. M.
in the Arts Building commencing on November 18th.

In the English course there will be twenty-five lectures and conferences with a view to giving the student a working knowledge of the language with special references to business correspondence, oral and written reports, and forms of public address.
Twenty lectures in Psychology are intended to enable a young man to help himself by a knowledge of his own mental powers, capacities and inclinations. A course of five lectures in Negotiable Instruments will deal with the law of bills of exchange, cheques and negotiable instruments, and is intended primarily to indicate possible pitfalls so that bank officers will have a better knowledge of when logical advice should be taken, and to assist them in preparing a statement of the facts to be submitted to the Bank's solicitors.

MARITIMERS ELECT YEAR'S EXECUTIVE

To Hold Dance With Western Club

At a meeting of the Maritime Club
last night it was decided that the executive should approach the Western Club with a view of making arrangements for the annual Maritime-Western dance. This affair has been very popular among the members of these two clubs and it is hoped to make this year's the best yet. Since the club has a considerable sum in the treasury it was decided to abolish the $1.00 membership fee. It was the general opinion of the members that the Mar-itimers should engage in more activities than hitherto, so another meeting will be called in the near future
the date to be announced later.

Since this was the annual business meeting the officers for the coming year were elected: Dean Ira McKay was elected Hon. Pres. F. Dineen was elected president, Miss Williams
vice-president, H. F. Mosley secretary, and Mr. Angeline treasurer.
The following were elected to represent their respective faculties: R. T.
Hayes, of Medicine, N. A. McKenzie, of Science, Chas. Lewis of Commerce
H. Gilles of Dentistry, Corbett of Arts, and Miss Saunders of R. V. C.

given a chance with the seniors.
Several of the outstanding basketball men in the college are still playing football, but Coach Van Wagner expects them to join the senior squad
after the Varsity game.

BANDSMEN UNABLE TO ATTEND MONDAY

Players Leave For Home For Thanksgiving

The Rooters' Band will be unable to attend the game Monday, due to the fact that about half the bands-men have gone home for Thanksgiving. This was announced at a disappointing band practice at the Union yesterday.

This did not hinder the remaining players from practising for the Toronto game, which will take place next Saturday. The following selections, "Marcheta," "Bringing Home the Beacon," "What'll I do," "Homespun" Crocher will be played, and Bob and the McGill March song by Logan, the conductor announced that he had secured two new bass players and some new selections for this important game. Band practices will be held Wednesday and Friday at the usual time in the Union, and nothing will be left undone that the Rooters'
Band may show up well.
